

Below is a scale representation of one side of the sign. The outer box represents the 24x18 inch sign substrate (such as corrugated plastic), and the inner boxes are 8.5x11 inch (US Letter) paper sheets that are roughly where the printed sign tiles would be positioned. A4 sheets would be slightly larger, but still fit.

The tiles are actually have a border that, on the inside edges, should be trimmed off or underly the neighboring tile such that the contents of the tiles line up without noticeable gaps. This pulls the inner boxes inwards, so they take less space then is shown.
